Paris Collection

The Paris collection arose from a bold idea of combining the traditional format that has always been a success with the more recent introduction of rustic material.

In this collection, we decided in collaboration with our partners to create a darker colour of brick that better suits the design.

Berlim

Collection

The Berlim collection was initially nothing more than an aspect of the Paris collection with the difference of containing a larger grill.

These models had such high adherence that we decided to create a dedicated collection with a small change in the texture.

This became our most successful collection in the production line.
